

Marital Adjustment of Working and Non-working women

Vasant Borkar
Nowrosjee Wadia College
University of Pune

Abstract

The study conducted to observe the marital adjustment of working and non-working women. The study has done in Pune city, Maharashtra. Total 120 participants has been selected. All the female participants, among them, 60 women who has been working at private or government sector and 60 housewives has been selected. Marital Adjustment Questionnaire gave to the participant to measure adjustment. Result indicates that Marital adjustment of non working women is higher than non working women. There is significant difference regarding marital adjustment between working and non working women.

Keywords: Marriage, Marital Adjustment, Marital Adjustment Questionnaire

Reference

- Dalack GW(1990) Perspectives on the Relationship between Cardiovascular Disease and Affective Disorder. The Journal of Clinical Psychiatry ;51:4-9.
- Lloyd S (1980). The individual marriage and family. California: Wadsworth Publishing Company.
- Kausar A (2003). Personality traits and socioeconomic status as predicators of marital adjustment in working women. PhD thesis submitted to the University of Karachi, Karachi.
- Migon, M. (2005). Women in multiple roles. Social Welfare, 15, 12-16.
- Nathawat SS, Mathur A (1993). Marital adjustment and subjective wellbeing in Indian-educated housewives and working women. J. Psychol. 127(3):353-358.
- Nye, F.I., and Hoffman, I.C. (2000). The employed mothers in America. Rand and McRally, Chicago.Oxford Dictionary and Thesaurus (2006). New York: Oxford University Press, Inc.
- Thomas EJ. (1977) Marital communication and decision making. New York, Free Press. 1977.

Author Note

Dr. Vasant Borkar, Department of Psychology, Nowrosjee Wadia College, Pune
Correspondence concerning this article should be addressed to Dr. Vasant Borkar, Nowrosjee Wadia College, Department of Psychology, University of Pune.